About This Game

Central Louisiana, the year 2089... the brief peace after World War III ends with the collapse of global computer networks through an unknown virus. With technology halted, people split into different tribes: mutants, cannibals and gangs roam the world while what's left of the army attempts to keep some type of order.

Outpost 72 stands as the lone army base guarding Vernon Lake, a small water source used by the remaining human population of the Louisiana Territory. The outpost sees little activity, except for the occasional mutant attack. Two unimpressive soldiers, among the small percentage of the population born with psionic powers, spend their days guarding the outpost and avoiding responsibility.

Their boredom comes to a sudden halt with the arrival of an alien species that seeks to research what is happening on Earth, and maybe do something more...

These two soldiers will find themselves at the forefront of a battle for humanity... a hero and his cocker spaniel side kick. He would embark on a grand adventure to discover the mysteries of the universe and humanity. Or maybe the cocker spaniel was the hero and the man was just the side kick. Maybe the cocker spaniel was the salvation of humanity and the man was just tagging along...

PERCY: They put human handcuffs on me and left me alone, so I was able to escape. For such an advanced species, they're not too bright on certain things. It's like they really didn't do their homework on world civilizations before invading. Here, I'll get your restraints... wait, why are your pants off?
